Enclosure.

From

To

The Chief Secretary to the

SIR,

I have the honor to submit the following proposal in connection with the new class for training Candidates for the Police service.

2. The course of instruction laid down for the young men falls short in one important particular viz, equitation, and I think it is necessary that they should receive training in this also before they leave the School. Generally the passed Candidates are appointed Probationary Jemedars and in some cases Probationary Inspectors, but the inability to ride acts as a serious drawback on them. It will be some time before they can acquire the necessary practice and Police work must suffer in the meantime. I have noticed this recently in my tour in the Districts. Even supposing that they pick up sufficient riding in course of time, I doubt if they will ever become good or even tolerably good horsemen in the absence of a regular training in a Riding School.

3. To remedy this defect, I beg strongly to recommend that they may be given a Course of instruction in equitation in the Silledar Riding School at Bangalore, free of cost, whilst they are studying in the Training class. There will be about 30 Candidates and they may be trained in one or two batches as may be most convenient to the Military Department.

4. The next class will be opened in January 1894, but in the meantime a class for training up Inspectors and Jemedars who are already in service, has been started and as they will be all the better for some lessons in Equitation, I beg that orders may be kindly issued to the Military Department to give the needful training to these men also.—

No. 1232

To,

The Chief Secretary. to the Government of Mysore

Sir,

In reply to your No. 9994 of 23rd Instant, I have the honor to inform you that it would not be feasible to detail daily at least 15 to 20 horse if not more for the purpose suggested by the Inspector General of Police.

This number of men would have to be struck off Regimental duty and each Class would take at least 3 months.

The cheapest method would be for these Police officers to bring their own horses or ponies and I would would detail an [illegible] Instructor. But if that is not prac-ticable I will be able to utilise some of the bigger Transport-ponies for this work and as in all pro-bability these Police Officers would in future keep only similar, if not smaller animals, I think they would answer the purpose equally well; for the remainder I could give horses. The wear and tear on horses in Riding Schools is very great and they would have to get extra food, and the Riding Instructors would have to get their fees, so a charge of Rupees 5/- per pony and Rupees 7/- per horse is the least that could be charged.

The horses are the property of the Sowars who are held res-ponsible

responsible for their Condition, and as a rule they dislike lending their horses to men who probably cannot ride, as naturally the horse is not improved thereby.
